

The Ocean

Hye Seung Lee

The ocean sinks everything down

Deep in the ocean

We don't know what is in there

Whatever it is

It can be a beautiful creature existed before human did

It can be the entire city

It can be the truth that we've never figured out

The truth the ocean has been hiding

The truth we've never faced

And as the time goes by

People would face the truth eventually

But humans wouldn't be able to explore the ocean and figure out the truth by themselves

The ocean would not be there

It would dry up by the avarice of humans and show the truth it had been hiding

Like a person dying in the desert crying out for water but never getting it