

Call Of The Ocean

Parker Caldwell

I walk along the seashore
I can't help but notice the ocean's plea.
There is trash everywhere.
You can't walk 5 steps without seeing our garbage.

All this trash is very harmful.
It gets caught on seal's necks.
The birds, they eat it!
The fish are dying!
The plants are getting sick and disappearing!
The coral are overheating and going extinct!
Coral produces half of the earth's oxygen
And without it we will be wearing masks for the rest of our lives!
It pollutes the water.
There are more than one million species of ocean animals.
And even more than that rely on the oceans' health!

To keep harming the ocean
Means this planet won't be home anymore
To us and every living thing on it.
Taking the life out of the ocean would be like
Taking the trees from a forest .
Taking the grass from the plains.
Taking the sand from a desert.

The ocean is calling for help
But few are answering!
What will it take to get people to listen?

Did we listen when the White Rhinos were going extinct?
Did we listen when the Stellar Sea Cows went extinct?

Did we listen when Dodos went extinct?

How many animals have gone extinct due to humans?

Over 680 species!!

We are about to wipe out every wild animal on this earth!

And that will lead to our extinction!

We only help when it is too late!

People can only act like this isn't happening for so long.

Eventually the truth will rise to the surface.

They can't keep pretending they don't hear the call.

But now we can't wait for them to answer,

We act now or suffer the consequences.

Are you okay with your children never hearing the call of whales?

Are you okay with your children never seeing a seal lion's head pop up from the water?

Are you fine with your children never hearing the sounds of orcas spouting and splashing?

Are you fine with your children never seeing dolphins surfing the waves?

Answer the call!

Are you okay with your children never seeing the beauty of a coral reef?

Are you fine with your children never hearing the bark of a seal pup?

Are you fine with your children never seeing another sea otter?

Answer the call!!

We can't keep waiting!

We must take action!

It is time for all of us to answer the call of the ocean!
